Auditors.

Langdon Public Library.

To the Citizens of the Town of Newington:

The Library Trustees herewith submit their thirty-fourth annual report for the year ending December 31, 1925.

Financially we have been in a position to add new books and other needed equipment during the year.

In the selection of books especial consideration has been given the children and they have found the library resources a valuable supplement to their school work.

We are pleased to note the increase in circulation especially in the books of non-fiction which have been double that of the year previous.

The library is an asset to our Town and cannot fail to instil a taste for good literature in the mind of the Young. We are pleased to observe the interest shown among our school children who derive much pleasure and profit from it. For good books influence a child's character and life as much as good company.

We cordially invite and urge all to visit more frequently and become better acquainted with the books of our library. The reading table contains many of the best magazines and they are within the reach of all.

On December 1, 1925, Mrs. Greenough was granted a leave of absence from her duties during which time Mrs. Marion W. Prior is acting as substitute Librarian.

In submitting this report it is a pleasure to express our appreciation to Mrs. Greenough for the courteous and efficient manner in which she has carried on the work.

We also appreciate and gratefully acknowledge all gifts.

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Board of Newington:

I herewith submit to you my first annual report as superintendent of the Newington public schools.

The people of Newington have reason to be proud of their school building. Attractive and convenient, with schoolrooms large, airy, well-lighted and comfortable, it will provide when fully equipped a very satisfactory place for the education of the children of the town.

Newington is likewise fortunate in its teachers. Although I have served you only four months I have come to respect highly the ability, the faithfulness and the hearty spirit of co-operation which your teachers have shown in their work.

My work has been to aid the teachers by removing hindrances to their work and by suggesting to them better methods in their work.

I have been issuing from the office weekly bulletins comparing the attendance and punctuality of the pupils of the 32 schools and 7 districts of the Union.

These show that the work of the teachers of Newington was handicapped by the lack of regular and punctual attendance. Many parents have shown commendable faithfulness in the regularity of their children's attendance, but too often some parents have allowed their children to be absent for insufficient reasons. The only sufficient reason in the eyes of the law is personal illness on the part of the child itself. While illness of the mother might in an emergency be deemed an excuse for absence, yet other arrangements must be made promptly so that the child may return to school. The weather, especially during this fall and winter, should not have prevented attendance except for very young or frail children and to them only for a day or two. Certainly work at home and disinclination of the child to attend should not be counted a sufficient reason. Many calls on parents have been made to explain the necessity for regular attendance, and a gradual improvement is noted.

An intelligence examination was given to the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades, that the teacher might know the mental ability of the classes and the pupils, and thus better fit the length and difficulty of the lessons to their capacities. In this test the children of Newington showed rather unusual ability and obtained marks decidedly above the average.

An arithmetic test was given to the 5th, 6th and 7th grades. This test was given in the same day to pupils of the same grades in nearly all the towns of Massachusetts.

The monthly bulletins have been continued. A series of teachers' meetings to discuss school problems and the best methods of instruction has been begun.

Believing that the use of spelling textbooks by the pupils is economical of the time of both teacher and pupils spellers have been provided for the use of all pupils of the grades 3 to 6 inclusive. A new International dictionary has been purchased.

The public library has been very helpful to the schools and we appreciate their co-operation.

Through the willing service of the teachers, hot lunches have been served to the pupils. This we feel contributes materially to the health of our children.

I am confident that the citizens of Newington will be anxious to complete the task begun with the building of the beautiful school house and will contribute the money necessary for the proper grading of the grounds and the setting out and care of the shrubs essential to the bringing out of the natural beauty of the school plant.

In order to make our schools as efficient as the people of Newington desire them to be it is necessary to do more than to provide a suitable house and well-trained teachers. There must also be provided up-to-date equipment and books, children properly nourished and clothed, the right spirit of co-operation on the part of parents, and hearty support of the school officials. To secure all of this is the big job of the superintendent. I solicit the help of all citizens of Newington in the effort to bring about this happy result.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES N. PERKINS, Supt.

School Report.

To the Citizens of the Town of Newington:

We herewith submit the Annual report of the Newington School Board:

Mrs. Tobey consented to act as principle for another year; and we were fortunate in obtaining her and appreciate her efforts to keep the standard of our school as high as possible.

Mrs. Beane is also with us again. It is needless to say we are grateful to have her for one as interested and glad to serve would be hard to find. Her supervision over the hot lunches is very satisfactory.

Miss Patch concluded her duties last June and we were exceptionally fortunate in obtaining Miss Margaret Pickering to take charge of the primary room. Through her untiring efforts we feel sure she is qualified to start the children in their school work.

Mr. Moore resigned to take up his new duties in Portsmouth. Mr. Charles N. Perkins succeeds Mr. Moore. He is efficient and very much interested and we think we should all feel fortunate in securing him as a successor.

During January Mrs. Rosamond Packard consented to serve on the school board for the remainder of the year.

The hot lunches have proven very beneficial. And although the project has not had the hearty support of the community it is hoped that in the future more will be done toward the good cause.

As ever, we urge the citizens and especially the parents to visit the school, thereby becoming acquainted with every phase of the school work.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE A. GARLAND,
